CHARGE 3 DEATHS TO LIQUOR GANG

LATEST VICTIM KILLED ON RANCH NEAR MONTEREY

FARM HAND FOUND DEAD WITH KNIFE THRU NECK

Joseph Silva Thought to Have Known Too Much of Unlawful Activities —Body Found in Isolated Haystack.

San Francisco.—Joseph Silva, whose dead body was found Monday morning on a ranch a short distance from the scene of recent Monterey bay rum running activities, is believed by authorities to have been another victim of the rum fued, slain because he knew too much about the plans and actions of the opposing gangs of liquor runners and hijackers.

Like Mrs. May Gerich, whose body was found on Moss beach, Silva is believed to have been put out of the way for having been an informant.

His body was found near a haystack with a stab wound through the neck. Beside him lay a pitchfork and at first it was thought this instrument may have caused death accidentally.

But when District Attorney Albert E. Warth of Monterey county heard of the man's death, he went to investigate. With his interest in the case it is recalled that the seizure of a large cargo of liquor and three members of the crew of the rum runner Emma S., near Pebble beach, early this month, was effected through a tip that came from the Hatton ranch, where Silva was employed and where his body was found.

The ranch is only a few miles away from where the Monterey county authorities made the Emma S. seizure.

Coroner J. A. Cornett of Salinas, who took charge of the body, states that it appears Silva was slain. The wound does not seem to be that of a pitchfork and besides, there was no blood on the implement, Coroner Cornett said.

With Silva's death, federal, county and city authorities from Monterey to Sebastapol increased their efforts to run down the members of the big ring.

Although a mass of evidence is being accumulated which daily draws new names into the activities of the rum ring, the authorities are maintaining stout silence and will neither discuss nor divulge the nature of their findings.

Some of the developments in the situation are:

United States Attorney Carr states that narcotics was the main cargo the smugglers intended to land before the Moss landing battle broke out last week. Liquor was secondary contraband of the party, he believes.

New federal grand jury will devote its attention to the Moss landing affair and subsequent developments. Government agents are now preparing information for the jury.

Fred Brokaw and William H. Bowen, sought as machine gunners in the battle of Moss landing, and who have apparently deserted their fashionable apartment, still are at large.

Paul Durney, alias James Donohue, looms as one of the leaders of the Moss landing affair and is also the object of a wide quest.

The ring continues to smuggle in rum despite the activity of the authorities. So much Scotch whisky has been brought into San Francisco the past week that prices have dropped.

DEAD WOMAN BELIEVED VICTIM OF LIQUOR FEUD

onville.—Chris Garichi and his , May, are victims of neutrality, according to Monterey county authorities. Garichi refused repeatedly to join either the rum smugglers or the hijackers and steadfastly stuck to fishing, while strife between the warring factions of the illicit liquor trade waged about his houseboat home near the scene of the Moss Landing machine gun fight. Unfortunately for the Garichis they were in a position to know all that was going on of nights along the lonely coast and for this reason, officers believe, both were murdered.

Mrs. Garichi's body was found on the beach a short distance from the mouth of the Pajara river, two miles south of Palm beach. Investigation revealed that Garichi had been missing for several days when his wife's body was found.

FUNDAMENTALIST JURY FOR SCOPES

Chosen Talesmen Ignorant on Matters Scientific

GRAND JURY RE-INDICTS TEACHER OF EVOLUTION

Brings in Charge of "High Misdemeanor" After New Investigation—Eyes of World Watching Course of Trial.

Dayton, Tenn.—John Thomas Scopes is to be tried by a jury made up chiefly of hardshell Baptists and Southern Methodists, farmers of middle age, who have extremely hazy ideas about evolution, but very firm beliefs as to the validity of the Bible in all things.

"It is as we expected," said Clarence Darrow, after the jury had been chosen in a 3-hour session before Judge John T. Raulston.

"We are satisfied," said William Jennings Bryan, who had sat in court all day without uttering a word for the public.

It took a reconvened grand jury only one hour to make a new investigation of the Scopes case and indict him again for having taught the theory of evolution to his high school pupils which is said to be in conflict with the biblical story of creation, which is against the peace and dignity of the state of Tennessee and a criminal matter termed by the court a "high misdemeanor."

The efforts of a minister who does not believe in evolution to get on the jury to try Scopes furnished one of the most amusing incidents.

Everybody seemed to want to get on the jury. There was only one man of those summoned who said that he had a fixed opinion. All the rest did not understand evolution, had only heard of it by rumor and by reading since the case began, and believed strongly in the Bible as an inspired scientific document, but still they were willing to give Scopes a fair trial.

Darrow Unleashes Thunder

Dayton, Tenn.—Clarence Darrow stormed the citadel of the anti-evolution forces in the opening argument of the Scopes trial in a manner unexpected and which took Dayton by storm. He preached a religion of toleration and warned that the fundamentalists were leading America and the world back towards Sixteenth century bigotry.

In one of the greatest speeches of his career the liberal leader told Judge John T. Raulston and a packed courtroom that unless constitutional guarantees are upheld in this case, unless the anti-evolution law is killed, that step by step liberties of press and church and school will be taken away.

"No subject possesses the minds of men like religious bigotry and hate!" he cried, "and these fires are being lighted today in America."

Turning to Bryan, who sat at the head of the prosecution table, his mouth set in stern lines, his eyes shadowing a determined purpose, he said:

"This is the prosecutor, the man responsible for this foolish, mischievous and wicked act."

He referred to the act "as brave and bold an attempt to destroy learning as was ever made in the middle ages."

A "snare and a trap to get those who don't agree with you in religion."

"Scopes is here," he said, "because the fundamentalists are after everybody who thinks.

"The spirit of freedom and independence has cost death blood for ages. It looks like it would cost more."

A shiver of apprehension, some merriment even, went over the room as the voice of Darrow, now cold and hard, now soft and stinging, sent new words into their minds, new thoughts, new possibilities.

They had expected God to speak here and they are still expecting it. But they had looked for the voice of doom and prophecy to come from Bryan, not from this stooping, kindly, farmer-like lawyer from the great city of the north.

The young attorney general, Tom Stewart, made an able presentation of his case earlier, sticking close to the law. He had faced the table where the "atheists" and heretics sat and had fought the fight for Bryan and Tennessee. He had admited frankly that the only basis of such legislation was the police power of the state. He insisted that the legislature had the power to protect the children in the schools, no matter whether their method was wise or not.

The people had spoken; the majority ruled. The majority police power was at work. Here the impact was shown.

The fundamentalists were using power, force, through the law agency which they controlled. The resentment was apparent at the defense table.

"What they are trying to do is to make us go to heaven wheather we like it or not," Darrow interpolated once. Not a glimmer of a smile from Bryan. He is biding his time. He will back up Stewart and admit that they are by the side of the Bible, that this is the word of God, that this is a Christian nation, that they are going to keep their children under that shelter, close to that rock.

Following their action of April 23 in petitioning the Interstate commerce commission for an increase in interstate rates, the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Northwestern Pacific, Union Pacific and Western Pacific railroads, in a joint petition to the state railroad commission, asks adjustment of intrastate rates to net the roads a fair return.

At a meeting of representatives of various large gold mining companies, smelters and federal officials with the state mineralogist, Lloyd L. Root, determination was made to enforce to the limit the anti-higrading law after it becomes effective on July 24. Opposition to the alleged excess taxes imposed on the mining industry failed to materialize.

Increase in the number of infantile paralysis cases in the state is causing considerable concern to the state health authorities. The secretary of the state board declares the disease is "unduly prevalent in the state at the present time." During the past six months 175 cases have been reported to the state board, against thirty for the corresponding period last year, and it is the opinion of the head of the board that effectual control of the disease depends entirely upon the cooperation of the medical profession in promptly reporting all indications of such cases.

GRANGERS URGE MORE CO-OPERATION

On account of hot weather and the busy season there was a rather slim attendance at Orchard City grange Tuesday evening. Those present however enjoyed the program arranged by the lecturer, Mrs. Ida M. Clendening. A reading by Mrs. Mary Parkhill was much appreciated and Miss Annie Schulte recited "An Order for a Picture" and "Waiting for the Train", in her usual pleasing manner.

Mr. Horace Keesling, of the legislative committee, said people are tired of having so many laws made by the legislature that did not amount to anything and that the committee better start a campaign against too much legislation as we are not the only sufferers.

Mr. Clendening, under the head of cooperation expressed similar views saying the people of various parts of the county should meet to get acquainted and have good social times and not attempt to pass too many resolutions.

Speaking of orchard and fruit conditions, Stanley Smith said some damage to prunes had been caused by the hot sun.

County Horticulturist Cody reported a new leaf mite working on some trees causing leaves to fall. These mites are exceedingly small and require a strong microscope to see them. He recommended the use of sulphur for them. He also mentined the sun burn of leaves as being quite bad in places.

Miss Schulte read a paper on Home Economics which caused much merriment.

The next meeting of the grange will be July 28.

I. R. Standford of Chico, an editor of many years' experience in California, has joined the staff of the Redding Searchlight after an absence from the newspaper field for twelve years.

Recapitulation of tax rolls show a total assessed valuation in Yuba county of $18,878,490. Shasta county's roll amounts to $17,000,600 and Butte county has a property valuation of $36,500,000.

Oroville authorities believe they have finally rounded up the last of the five prisoners who escaped from the county jail on the night when Danial Damion, star witness in the Conroy murder trial, disappeared. John Cain, alias J. B. Murphy, recently arrested at Oroville on a robbery charge, is held to be the last of the jailbreakers. Damion was picked up in Oregon recently.

Records in the state controller's office show that deficiency appropriations allowed state departments during the biennial period just closed to make up shortages totaled $1,313,567. The total of deficiencies includes $599,291.21 passed by the legislature and the balance was made up from allowances from the emergency funds and special funds of various boards and commissions.

The San Francisco bay region had more rain during the past season than in any other year since 1890. The precipitation during the twelve months ending June 30 was 30.81 inches, or 8.54 inches above the average yearly rainfall. Thirty-five years ago, during the season of 1889-90, 45.85 inches of rain fell. June rainfall, totaling only .05 of an inch, was .12 below the normal for the month. But during practically every other month the rainfall was far above normal.

The Napa county farm bureau claims a victory in a stubborn fight over alleged discrimination against the district in the matter of the appointment of an inspector for the Gravenstein apple crop, which, it is claimed, ripens two weeks earlier than those of other districts. With an inspector on the ground to certify to the classification, Napa growers say their apples will reach the market considerably in advance of those of other districts.

Captain O. C. Applegate, the oldest resident of Klamath Falls, Ore., was the honor guest of the Covered Wagon club of Sacramento recently. Captain Applegate, who is 80 years old, is a veteran of the Modoc Indian war and was one of the first white children born in "Oregon country." He claims to be a native of Washington, Oregon, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho, as he was born in what was known as the Oregon country in 1845.

CAMPBELL C. OF C. IN REGULAR SESSION

A goodly attendance greeted President Whitman as he called the Campbell Chamber of Commerce meeting to order Monday evening.

Eight new boosters were added to the growing membership.

The publicity committee was authorized to secure an estimate on the cost of an advertising folder for the Orchard City and report at the August meeting.

Ralston Alison reported that bids for paving Meridian avenue were received and remarked on the necessity of improving Hamilton avenue.

Petitions for additional street lights must be submitted to the Campbell Chamber for approval before being presented to the county board of supervisors.

After some discussion on police protection the matter was referred to Dr. Merrill and J. F. Wehmeyer with instructions to obtain data for securing a permanent officer for Campbell.

C. W. Shumway was authorized to look up the proposition of a local broadcasting station.

The health problem, like the poor, is ever with us. Dr. W. I. Merrill, chairman of the health committee and member of the special County Consolidated committee on district sewage gave an interesting talk on the proposed district which would include Los Gatos with Campbell in a common plant or disposal line to the bay. The district plan is meeting with much favor and will greatly facilitate the sewage problem for the smaller towns.

The city dads of Los Gatos have also voted in favor of such a proposition.

MISS BAUGH GUEST AT UTENSIL SHOWER

Mrs. D. H. Cramer entertained informally about a score of intimate friends and neighbors, Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Janice Baugh, whose engagement to Merlin J. Bohnett was annuonced last spring.

Miss Olive Hanger very pleasingly enertained the company with piano and vocal numbers. The main feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a shower of kitchen utensils to the guest of honor. There were many novel and attractive articles in the group designed to add to the ease and pleasure of house keeping.

Dainty refreshments of sherbet and cakes were served by the hostess, assisted by several of the guests and Master Hugh Cramer. Everyone present enjoyed a very delightful afternoon.

Expenditures for new building construction at state institutions during the new biennium will be three times greater than those of any previous biennium. The construction fund totals $5,200,000.

Watsonville authorities are hopeful that the recent arrest of Elmer Gloss and C. C. Gammon has effectually broken up the gang of boxcar thieves who have stolen valuables of approximately $35,000 value.

After accidentally discharging a gun at John Ayola, Nacia Tories, 18-year-old inmate of the Sonoma home for feeble minded, shot himself through the head and died instantly, thinking he had killed his companion, who, however, was unhurt.

Prohibition authorities have asked for abatement proceedings against nearly fifty hotels, clubs and restaurants in the bay district with the idea of immediately padlocking all the suspected places when the orders are granted. Sixteen bootleg joints were closed in one week in a new drive of the padlock war.

Mrs. Sallie A. Bucher, cousin of the novelist, General Lew Wallace, and daughter of the Rev. Hugh Burnhill, who is said to have built the first log cabin on what is now the site of Indianapolis, died at Los Angeles, aged 90.

California, represented by Marie Reynolds of Merced, carried off first honors in the Christian Endeavor oratorical contest at the biennial convention of the international organization at Portland.

COUNTY CONSOLIDATED FETE SANTA CRUZ DADS

More than 100 progressive performers of Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties enjoyed a joint business session and picnic in the Big Basin Redwood Park Tuesday.

This get together meeting was the plan of the Saratogans and they furnished the coffee for the occasion.

In a short talk 'Pop' Smith, of Mountain iVew paid a glowing tribute to the wonderful cooperative spirit of the Consolidated which had been able to accomplish so much for the county. He suggested a similar organization for Santa Cruz county.

President Wendell Thomas explained a plan of county publicity wherein the county realty board would use "rubberneck" tours.

Judge J. R. Welch, Santa Clara county good roads chairman, gave a very graphic report of the status of the skyline boulevard and cash available.

"Although we are told by state highway authorities that the Skyline boulevard cannot be completed at the present time because the funds available for its construction are exhausted," Judge Welch declared, "the facts are that a $2,471,000 bond issue was voted for the road and less than $1,500,000 has been spent altogether. As one-half of this sum was taken from the federal aid fund rather than from the state bond issue, the latter remains about three-fourths intact.

"We are told by legislators that a gasoline tax was necessary in order to get funds for the boulevard. Yet $34,000,000 has been alloted for road work in the state during the present biennial, and of this sum $11,000,000 is available for new roads. Although some of this money has been already used there is approximately $8,000,000 remaining. The people of Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties should get together and demand that enough be allocated from that $8,000,000 to finish the Skyline boulevard. Unless we do something immediately the road will not be completed this year or next year. I am not criticising our legislators; I am stating actual facts."

YOUNG MEN CHARGED WITH BATTERY

Campbell received a decided shock Tuesday morning when the report was passed about that several young men held up an autoist on Campbell avenue Monday night.

A Press representative was informed that one of the young men stood in the street frantically waving his arms as a signal for a passing autoist to stop. As soon as he stopped several others are reported to have severely beaten him. At his cry for help a number of townsmen came running to the scene and soon the row was over and the sheriff's deputies had one of the culprits in hand.

J. Jansen, the victim of the attempted hold up, is reported to have carried considerable money at the time but lost none. He has preferred a charge of battery against Harry Pinder and Don Norton who were taken by officers for alleged connection with the misdemeanor. Their hearing will be before Judge Witten of San Jose.

Residents of Campbell are highly incensed over this episode which would lead some to believe that this is an undesirable residence town. Such is not the fact for this is the first case of the kind within the writer's knowledge to have ever taken place here and this act was not done by bona fide residents of our community.

Mrs. Milton Eastland, of Palestine, Texas, and Mrs. Virginia Eastland, of San Francisco, were guests of Mrs. Mary Lanphear, Tuesday.

SELF-APPOINTED ENGINEERS

Oliver Wendell Holmes said that the human race is divided into two classes: those who go ahead and do something, and those who sit and inquire, "Why wasn't it done some other way?" The trouble with most of us is not that we are against progress, but that we are too self-sufficient in our estimates of the technicalities of progress. We shy at "experts," and thus minimize their years of training. We take them as robbers of democracy. We like to develop our own notions overnight regarding the way things should be done. Self-appointed engineers seldom make much headway except to hinder constructive works.

Too many public issues fail because too many people are not willing to trust to the judgment of the trained minds or public-spirited officials who pronounce the ways and means of development. Whether the proposed undertaking be a bridge, a highway, a harbor, a school building, a park or a public drinking fountain, there are always those who oppose, not fundamentally but technically, and to the extent that their opposition throws a monkey-wrench into the machinery and often renders the chances of success precarious.

It is not sought here to depreciate the right of individual opinion or hamper in any manner the complete exercise of one's natural right or democratic action. But to agree with the results and conclusions of intensive study, to merge our opinions and subordinate our private lay notions of scientific and engineering matters to the recognized accomplishments of men who have devoted their liveis to the subject, in short, to have faith and confidence, not only negatives the presumption of incompetency on our part, but bespeaks of the highest form of intelligence. In other words, as in the case of the need for a doctor or a lawyer, first get one of ability and in whom you have confidence, and then let him handle the case. Don't appoint yourself.

EARTHQUAKES

Less than 20 persons lost their lives in the Santa Barbara earthquake. Every day in the year an average of 30 lives are snuffed out by the automobile alone, or a total of 65,253 persons met accidental death from all causes last year according to government figures.

Immense property damage resulted from the shake-up, and even one life is too precious to lose. But earthquakes are peculiarly notable because of their uncanniness. No place on the globe can claim immunity from them. They're saying New York City next! Might as well say Lowell or Knoxvile, Portland or Mobile. No one knows.

After disasters come people cry out "We will rebuild!" The pioneer spirit! Also because there is in every human breast a desire to accomplish, to overcome, to outwit—to gamble with Nature. But it is a gamble where the cards are stacked against us. To give up is idle. To seek a place of absolute safety from natural causes and phenomena is futile. The safest situation is a courageous heart to battle bravely against certain odds, but with the wisdom that knows its own complacency in the world of things as they are.

Mark Twain said he had had a lot of trouble in his life but most of it never happened. And we think we have had a lot of depression in business, but much of it could be attributed to causes within our own business activity or lack of it. Business depressions are often mental depressions. Germs of doubt inoculate one another as the word is passed around that times are hard. The best anti-toxin is a sincere cordiality, a happy smile, a lot of hard work and a clear conscience. Let's go!

STIMULATION OF BUSINESS

Stimulation of business is what we all need in summer time. Certain lines will profit by vacationists; while others will lag, UNLESS and UNTIL it is realized that healthy stimulation CAN be injected to tide over the summer months. Business men themselves should have vacations. That itself is refreshing, provided they add that extra grain of energy necessary to make up the difference between the financial expenditure of a vacation and what profit would have resulted, if any, had they remained at home on the job. In times of dullness prepare for and MAKE prosperity.

One tree will make a million matches; one match can destroy a million trees. A thousand people could make a thousand knockers if each one developed into a knocker. One knocker, if he knocked long and hard enough could put the gloom into a thousand boosters, destroying their plans and good works.

Never let anyone do you today if you can put him off till tomorrow.

Lessons in Trapping

A novel exhibit in predatory animal control work was given at the last Missouri state fair, at Sedalia. A space in the Boy's and Girls' Club building was used. On one side were hung wolf skins, steel traps and charts. Half of the floor of the booth was covered with earth to represent an old trail such as would be used by wolves. Grasses and other vegetation were placed about to imitate real conditions where it would be suitable to set traps. The remaining half of the floor space was occupied by a live wolf and three live coyotes. Trapping demonstrations given by representatives of the federal biological survey were attended by about 10,000 persons.—Indianapolis News.

Hot Shot

A young married woman living not a hundred miles from London, is often criticized by her friends because of the freedom with which she accepts little attentions from members of the other sex.

At a recent gathering which she attended she drew from her pocket her lace handkerchief, in which a knot had been tied in order to call to her mind some trivial duty.

"Dear me," she said to several men about her, "why is that knot in my handkerchief? I tied it there to remind me of something."

"My dear," said an old lady who overheard her, "it was probably tied in order to remind you that you are married."

Dry Enforcement by Army

San Francisco.—A drastic change in the system of handling the prohibition enforcement throughout the country will go into effect August 1, as the result of plans recently made by General L. C. Andrews, who was drafted by Secretary Mellon. According to the information the entire United States will be divided into twenty-two or more districts with an army officer at the head of each district. He will have full charge and direction of the administrative work of the dry forces and would be on leave of absence from the army on authority of President Coolidge during that period of service.

SETTLERS GIVEN 140,000 ACRES OF STATE LAND

Indicating rapid settlement of undeveloped land in Northern California, John C. Ing, registrar of the federal land office in Sacramento, declared in his report for the fiscal year that approximately 140,000 acres of unapportioned government land in twenty-eight northern counties was withdrawn during the year ending June 30.

Ing's report shows a total of 1,782,373 acres of unreserved and unapportioned land still available in Northern California. Included in the 1,782,373 acres of unapportioned lands are 601,595 acres on which claims are pending before the local land office. Of the total land now available to homesteaders, Ing reported, all but 99,021 acres has been surveyed by the government.

Although a large percentage of the remaining land is mountainous and hilly, Ing stated in his report that the larger part of the area can be used for farming, grazing, timber or mining purposes.

The acreage still open to homesteaders in northern counties follows:

Alpine, 300; Amador, 12,403; Butte, 11,733; Calaveras, 21,590; Colusa, 13,154; Del Norte, 215; El Dorado, 20,253; Fresno, 2695; Glenn, 9626; Humboldt, 27,904; Lake, 9987; Lassen, 980,518; Madera, 2535; Mariposa, 28,245; Mendocino, 1760; Modoc, 289,604; Napa, 10,517; Nevada, 13,132; Plumas, 5072; Shasta, 95,503; Sierra, 2146; Siskiyou, 91,434; Stanislaus, 2184; Tehama, 30,888; Trinity, 40,665; Tuolumne, 8325; Yolo, 18,571; Yuba, 1758.

RECORD PACK IS EXPECTED FOR PEACHES AND 'COTS

All apricot canning records for the past year in Santa Clara county will be broken this year, according to prominent canners, who say that the peach pack will be equally large.

The trade has been notified that orders will be filled on a pro-rata basis. The market is particularly keen this year because there was no carry-over from last year, and the demand for pie fruit, which permits the use of second quality fruit is heavy.

PLUNGE TO OPEN AT SOUTH SHORE

MOUNTAIN VIEW,—With the interior of the building completed and surroundings generally in good shape, the salt water plunge at South Shore Port opened to the public Saturday. The huge tank, with a capacity of upwards of 400,000 gallons of water, was re-filled. The long row of dressing rooms, all spacious and connected with shower baths and other conveniences, are now finished.

During the past month a force of 15 men, under the direction of H. L. Fields, one of the owners, has been busy pushing the work both inside and outside. A 10-acre parking space for automobiles is provided free to visitors.

SOMETHING GOOD

THE following stew may be prepared of tame ducks when the wild are out of season:

Stew of Wild Ducks.

Cut up a pair or more of wild ducks as for fricassee, and let boil ten minutes in barely water to cover, with one onion and one carrot cut into slices. Remove the duck meat, drain, dredge with flour mixed with salt and pepper and cook in a little hot fat until brown. Meanwhile add to the water in which the duck was parboiled, a minced shallot, and a bunch of sweet herbs; then put in the brown pieces of duck, cover closely and cook for two hours or until tender. Remove the duck, thicken the liquid with browned flour, one cupful of cream and one well-beaten egg. Stir until the egg is set, pour over the duck meat, garnish with curled celery and slices of lemon.

Sweet Pepper Souffles.

Cut the membranes and remove them and the seeds from four sweet peppers, then parboil. Put through a meat chopper, mix with two tablespoonfuls of fine crumbs, three tablespoonfuls of flour, blended with an equal quantity of cream, stirred into the slightly beaten yolks of two eggs. Season with one-half teaspoonful of salt, a little pepper and a pinch of poultry seasoning. The whole should be as thick as a stiff batter. Add two well-beaten egg whites. Place at once in greased individual molds, or in paper cases, filling them two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven until well puffed.

For a pretty dessert fill individual pastry shells with whipped cream which has been mixed with a few tablespoonfuls of preserved strawberries. The fresh ones, of course, are preferable when they can be obtained.

P. G. & E. STARTS NEW SALES DRIVE

The new sales program, which will be immediately inaugurated by the Pacific Gas and Electric company, was the subject of a joint meeting held Saturday evening in the social hall of the San Jose P. G. & E. by the Electrical Development league of Santa Clara county, the Peninsula Development league, and the officials of the power company.

J. D. Kuster, San Jose manager of the P. G. & E., acted as general chairman and introduced the first speaker, Captain George Baldwin of the San Francisco publicity division of the company. Baldwin stated that vast new sources of electric power would become available this year and would be a total loss unless the demand was stimulated by a sales campaign. Such a campaign will be started immediately and will be the biggest venture the P. G. & E. has ever entered, according to Baldwin, aiming to create a bigger demand for electricity for factory power, cooking, heating and lighting.

"The new sales program is based on a policy of co-operation with electrical dealers and contractors," stated John Ross, sales manager of the San Jose division of the power company. "It will consist, first, of a campaign on kitchen lighting fixtures, and second, of the active sale of heavy duty electric appliances, such as ranges and water heaters." R. P. Stephens of San Francisco, manager of electric sales for the entire P. G. and E. system, then explained the electric sales plan in detail. It is proposed to sell 20,000 kitchen lighting unit by means of a house-to-house canvass throughout the state by 90 salesmen. An explanation of how retail electric dealers and contractors will profit under the new plan was given by H. M. Crawford, of San Francisco, general sales manager for the P. G. & E., of California. He also outlined the industrial heating sales program.

ADVANCE IN PRICE ON 1924 PRUNE CROP

Increased prices on the 1924 crop of prunes were announced Tuesday by the California Prune and Apricot Growers Association.

A one-fourth cent advance is being made on all the remaining stock of the 1924 crop. This means that the 1924 crop of prunes for July delivery are moved up to a price equal to the prices named for the same stock for August and September delivery.

In a bulletin issued to brokers, the association pointed out that since July 1, there has been a very heavy demand for 1924 crop prunes, and that at the present rate of sale the stocks of 1924 crop of prunes would be exhausted within a very short time. The association announced that it had nothing left on hand but Sunsweet grade30-40 left on hand but Sunsweet grade 30-40 40-50's and 50-60's.

ROADWORK CONTRACTS AWARDED IN COUNTY

Contracts involving more than $175,000 for road-work in Santa Clara county were awarded at the session of the board of supervisors Monday.

Bids totaling more than $100,000, submitted by the Raisch Improvement company, were accepted for the following jobs: Improvement of Meridian road, $48,900; surfacing of Tully, White and San Felipe roads, $34,500; improvement of San Antonio avenue, $8500; improvement of Northern road, $10,200; improvement of Minnesota avenue, $7100.

The Granite Construction company was awarded the contract for the improvement of Rucker avenue for $25,636.88 and for work on San Martin avenue for $15,946.

The job of constructing a concrete bridge on Trimble road across Coyote creek, was given to Herschbloch & Sciarinno, who submitted a bid of $21,000. The work of putting in reinforced culverts on Campbell avenue was awarded to Charles S. Collins, who offered to do the job for $3146.

The board of supervisors Monday appointed James F. Fenton fire warden for the eastern range of the county, and C. Price fire warden for the southern end of the county.

Reports from Redding say the P. G. & E. company is buying ranches along South Cow creek and Mill creek above its power house on the former stream, to acquire the water rights appurtenant to the land. The report also claims the South Cow creek power house is to be remodeled, so that it will practically run itself with the care of one man. The plant has a present productive capacity of 2,000 horsepower.

Relief expeditions were outfitted at Mojave and Los Angeles to go into Death valley and investigate the condition of three mining engineers believed to be in need of aid since being trapped by a cloudburst which destroyed the only road into the region. Indians are said to have stolen their horses and their only chance of escape was a 60-mile walk across impassable desert.

The Santa Cruz Sentinel, in an article by E. R. Button, states that a Majoon strawberry measuring seven and one-quarter inches in circumference has been produced at that place, and claims that the flavor of the berry is excellent and that they will bear abundantly if given proper attention. The bed in which the berry exhibited was raised was planted last March.

"Yes, sir, that old Ford hasn't soldiered a day since I took to using this new Zerolene 'F' for Fords."

Ford owners who "tried out" Zerolene "F" for Fords when it was first put on the market have been sticking to it ever since.

Zerolene "F" for Fords is made by the Standard Oil Company's patented vacuum process. It lubricates all the bearing surfaces where oil is needed, especially the wrist-pin bearings and the upper half of the cylinder walls, which are frequently "oil-starved" when an unsuitable lubricant is used. The result is improved gasoline mileage, quicker starting and increased freedom from carbon and other motor troubles.

What to do when a Light goes out

If the trouble is with a single Lamp, it may be due either to a broken filament in the Lamp or to a defective Socket.

Often a Lamp with a broken filament can be temporarily restored to service by tapping it lightly. It is well to try another Lamp in the same Socket. Also try the "dead" Lamp in a different Socket. These tests will determine whether the fault is with the Lamp or the Socket.

If the trouble is in the Socket it is better to send for an electrician than to try to make the repair yourself.
